It is said that Hill and the Curtis woman, after a short stay in New York, had a violent quarrel, and that when he left her she declared that he håd robbed her.

Hill will have to appear every day before Recorder Carroll in Paterson, so that he can be turned over to the New York authorities in case requisition pa-pers are presented. The prisoner's grandfather and his lawyers asked th grandather and his lawyers asked the Recorder that the ball be reduced from $1,000 to $2,500, as the only charge against the young man would be the lareety of about $500 worth of jewelry and clothing, and the Recorder consented to this, on condition that Hill appear before him daily.

Sixteen-year-old Julius Dickstein, of No. 15 Rutgers place, was held in $1,000 ball by Magistrate Butts in the Essex Market Court to-day to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of forgery made by the Public Bank, No. 81 Delancey street. He was arrested last Saturday after he had presented a last Saturday after he had presented a bankbook to Louis Pullman, ledger clerk at the bank.

Pullman said that he noticed a cipher had been added to a deposit of $15 made by the boy the day before, making it appear, according to the bank people, that the deposit was for $150. The cipher, however, is in the cents column of the bankbook, and in reality did not increase the smount of the deposit as entered.
